

Who are we?

ac6 - Tools and Professional Trainings for Embedded Systems

AC6 is a registered company established in Paris region, France. AC6 deliver a full range of services ranging from training to technical support and consulting services for embedded electronic systems. Development tools were recently added to the portfolio of solutions to offer a complete service to electronic developers. Partners include STMicroelectronics, Freescale, Microsoft and Lauterbach.

AC6 offers are structured in several entities:

- ac6-training provides a full range of training courses covering all the fields of industrial computing, embedded and real-time systems design and programming.
- ac6-conseil provides engineering, consulting and expertise to help you in the development of embedded systems.
- ac6-tools provides a set of tools for the development of embedded systems

Ac6 news